in observance of
Martin Luther King Day.

In all three of this Sunday's readings, we hear about discipleship. God reveals Himself to man, and man responds to God's revelation by following Him – giving up His old life and living for the Lord.

In the first reading from First Samuel, we hear God calling out to Samuel, who "was not familiar with the Lord, because the Lord had not revealed anything to Him as yet." So, Samuel ran to Eli, believing the voice he heard calling him to be Eli's. Finally, upon the second calling, Eli realized what was happening, and told Samuel that the Lord's call required a response. "...If you are called, reply, 'Speak Lord, for your servant is listening.'" Samuel did just that, and the writer tells us, "Samuel grew up and the Lord was with him always, not permitting any word of his to be without effect." Samuel gave his life to the Lord, and the Lord guided his steps and ultimately used Samuel to proclaim Him to the nations.

In the Gospel reading from John, we hear a similar story. Here, we see Christ calling His disciples, and, like the Lord used Eli to reveal Himself to Samuel, Jesus reveals Himself to two disciples using John the Baptist. John proclaims, "Behold the Lamb of God," and at that moment, the two disciples see who Jesus is and they begin to follow Him. What's more, the Gospel tells us that Andrew found his brother Simon and told him, "We have found the Messiah." Then, he brought him to Jesus, garnering yet another disciple for Christ. Simon responded to that revelation in the same way His brother and the other disciple had – he began to follow the Lord and change his life accordingly.

Christ calls each one of us to be His disciples. Just like He called Samuel and Andrew and Simon, He calls us today. Sure, most of us will not hear His voice audibly calling or will see Him walking down the road beckoning to us, but He calls us just the same. Tugging on our hearts, He calls us to Himself. We were made to live for Him, so, even though we don't see him or hear Him in the traditional way, we are drawn to Him just the same.

Truly, like St. Augustine of Hippo proclaimed in His professions, "Our hearts are restless, O Lord, until they rest in thee." In addition, the Lord reveals Himself to us in a multitude of ways. He shows forth His goodness and His beauty in nature. He reveals Himself to us through the goodness of others, and, in much the same way as He did with Samuel and the first Christian disciples, the Lord uses others as His instruments to call us to Himself. It is our duty to respond to His call, to give Him our lives, and, like Samuel, Andrew, Simon and he disciple who is unnamed in this gospel passage do, to choose to live our lives for Him. We offer Him ourselves, our time, our talents and our treasure, and, through the way we live our lives "avoiding immorality," and "glorifying God in our bodies, as Paul exhorts the Corinthians to do, really by committing to live for God, to glorify Him in all we do – at home, at church, at work and elsewhere – we serve as His instruments, calling others to follow Him, just like Eli and John the Baptist have done.

Let us all take ownership of our responsibilities as Christian disciples, and devote ourselves to live for Christ, to follow Him and glorify Him in all we do, bearing witness to others of the wonderful God we serve and calling others to live for Him as well.

Faith. Academics. Service.

St. Gregory the Great Catholic School

Later this month, we will celebrate Catholic Schools Week, along with almost seven thousand Catholic schools across the country. This year's theme is "Catholic Schools: Faith. Academics. Service." The theme expresses three priorities that make Catholic schools stand out from other educational institutions.

We are glad to announce the addition of an after-school instrument program, which begins this week. Students in grades two through six will have the opportunity to attend weekly guitar lessons, provided by Lisa Campbell.

Construction on Phase II of the parish campus in Stonebridge, the Library/Administration building, is currently under way. Grading has been completed; wooden forms established in preparing for the coming foundation pour; and some brickwork is now visible. We will keep you posted as the building takes shape, and look forward to sharing an onsite glimpse of the new addition to our parish campus during our Open House on January 29.

A wide selection of Scrip gift cards is available at both the school and parish offices. Scrip gifts cards may be ordered online at www.shopwithscrip.com. This website offers a convenient way to shop for your scrip gift cards from the comfort of your own home. Simply log on to www.shopwithscrip.com to set up your profile. Rite of Christian Initiation of Adults

If you are interested in RCIA please contact Deacon Ron at the Parish Office: 858 653-3582, or deaconron@stgg.org. RCIA meets each Tuesday at 7 P.M. in the Parish Hall. Exploring the Catholic faith for non-Catholics is too often left to asking other non-Catholics or Catholics, with less understanding about their own faith. The Rite of Christian Initiation of Adults is a process that the Church provides to help explore the teachings, traditions, and rituals of the Catholic faith for those who are seeking a true and deeper understanding. RCIA is primarily for non-baptized and baptized-only adults. This covers a wide range of people from the nonbeliever to persons baptized in other Christian denominations. While their needs may be very different, the RCIA is a faith journey that helps meet the needs of a wide range of seekers. All are welcome! Fully initiated Catholics are welcome too. Many have found attending the RCIA sessions to be a good way to enhance their faith journey and deepen their understanding and relationship with God and the Church.

Saint Gregory

Family Cancer Support Ministry

Bringing Christ to Families Experiencing Cancer

2012 Mass of Hope

Tuesday, January 17

7:00 p.m. Mass

8:00 p.m. Reception

We invite all St. Gregory parishioners affected by cancer to this special celebration of Hope: those with active cancer cases, those in remission, those who have recovered, all family members, care givers, medical professionals, and friends of those who have had cancer or are experiencing cancer.

Hope in the face of cancer comes in many forms: hope that treatment will work, hope that there will not be a recurrence, hope in complete recovery, hope that pain will be minimal, hope that therapies will not cause more harm than good, hope that family and friends will be steadfast in providing loving care, hope that God will give comfort in times of need, and perhaps most importantly, hope in Eternal Life with Our Lord at the end of our journey. Come celebrate hope.

Join Fr. Nicholas Clavin and the Family Cancer Support Ministry Team for for the Third Annual "Mass of Hope" on Tuesday, January 17, 2012, 7:00 p.m. We ask those who plan to attend who have lost family members or friends to bring a small photo of their loved-one for a special prayer during Mass. A reception with light refreshments will follow Mass in the Parish Hall. Please join us.

For more information contact Kent Peters: 858-735-6889

Mass will be interpreted for the Deaf Community
